Manager's Comment

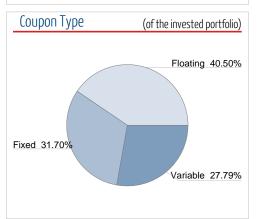

In May, weakness in the financial markets at global level generated a sell-off on higher risk bond assets while favouring earnings on the government component in a rotation towards more defensive asset classes. The compression of the yield on the Treasury and the Bund points to market expectations for more expansionary monetary policies in the coming months. In the European area, the weak economy will keep interest rates at low levels. However, the risk/return ratio is currently not very attractive and the May reversal on the high yield segment does not justify an increase in market exposure.

The continuation of numerous factors of uncertainty at the geopolitical level within a context of deteriorating economic growth means that a defensive investment profile should be preferred. The coupon profile of the fund is 32% fixed, 40.0% variable, and 28.0% mixed. The specific risk is minor, with a weight of 17.7% for the largest ten positions and an average rating of BBB. The product has a duration of 1.4 years, a yield to worst of 1.8%, a coupon yield of 1.6% and annualised volatility in the 12 months of 1.6%.
